

PARTY CHIEFS BEING NAMED

Henderson and Richardson
Will Lead in House of Congress.

CASSON IS IN AGAIN

Session Will Open Monday, and the President's Message Comes Tuesday.

A WAR ON ANARCHY

Washington, Nov. 30.—For at least two reasons the fifty-seventh congress first session which begins Monday noon will be notable. The appropriations of the projected program as adopted will greatly exceed those of any preceding congress. The record for the coming congress will be near two billions dollars, so vast has been the growth of the country in its needs. The start of the construction of the inter-oceanic canal will be an epoch maker in legislation.

For this winter the work of congress includes the adoption of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty; appropriating money to begin the work of the canal; reduction of the inter-revenue taxes; increase of the navy; four new battleships, etc.; rivers and harbors, seventy eight millions; establishment of a department of commerce; Philippine legislation; opening lands to settlers; extending the act prohibiting the immigration of Chinese; to pass a law concerning the attempts at a president's life; to adopt a eulogy on the late Wm. McKinley; to provide the widow with a pension of five thousand dollars yearly, and to pay the bills of the doctors.

It is also possible that there may be an echo of the Schley inquiry and that the whole controversy may be fought over again.

Henderson and Richardson.

The congressmen-elect now in the city are holding their party caucuses today. The democrats held their caucus in the hall of the house at 11 o'clock and nominated James D. Richardson of Tennessee for speaker.

The republicans held their caucus this afternoon, when Representative D. B. Henderson of Iowa, was nominated for speaker, Glenn for door-keeper, McDowell for clerk, McElroy for postmaster, and Casson for sergeant-at-arms. These nominations will be ratified when congress is called to order on Monday by Clerk McDowell.

Message Read Tuesday.

More than one-half of the members-elect to the fifty-seventh congress which convenes at noon Monday next, are now in the city. Out of respect to the memory of President McKinley, the two houses will adjourn immediately until Tuesday, when the message will be read.

The assignment of committees will probably be made during the week. Every man understands, however, just where he is to be placed, the rule of seniority of service on committees being inviolable.

The War On Anarchy.

There will be a prompt movement in congress looking to the stamping out of anarchism. It will be a non-partisan movement, and headed by a veteran legislator who buries the convictions of a life time on the subject of states rights, in order to aid in the efforts to remove the blot from the nation's record. Vest believes that nothing effective can be accomplished without an amendment to the federal constitution.

President to See Football

Washington, Nov. 30.—The President, family and members of the cabinet left at 10 o'clock this morning on a special for Philadelphia to witness the army-navy football game this afternoon.

PROCEED AGAINST GENEVA ROAD; MILWAUKEEANS ASK QUO WARRANTO

Attorney-General Petitioned to Move Against the "L" Electric Line--Seek Road's Backers.

Milwaukee, Nov. 30.—There is a good prospect that the real backers of the Milwaukee, Burlington and Lake Geneva, better known as the L. Road, soon will become known. Property owners along the line of the road in the city where it is located have united in a petition to the attorney general of the state asking him to bring quo warranto proceedings against the road to show why it should hold and exercise the privileges of franchise.

These petitioners include some of the largest manufacturers along the line of the road, whose property, they assert, will be greatly damaged and their business injured by the road, which would shut off the light and destroy easy ingress and egress.

The most sensational part of the petition is an assertion that such legislation as is included in the franchise could not be enacted for the reason that under the Wisconsin statutes there is no provision for elevated railways, which were not in use when the statutes were passed, there-

COLON IS RECAPTURED.

Government Forces in Possession of Port Taken by Liberals.

Washington, Nov. 30.—A cablegram has been received at the state department from Consul General Guder dated Panama saying that the liberals have been defeated and that the government forces are in possession of Colon.

The following cablegram, was received at the navy department from Capt. Perry of the Iowa:

"Colon, Nov. 30.—Arrangements for surrender today of Colon and liberal forces have been completed."

Gen Castro Killed.

New York, Nov. 30.—A dispatch to the Herald from Colon, Colombia, says: "Gen. Francisco Castro, who led the government troops in the capture of the Barbacoas bridge on Tuesday, was killed early Thursday morning during an engagement with the insurgent force at Bohia Soldado. Gen. Castro had been acting as second in command of the government force on the isthmus."

MRS. BONINE'S NERVE DOES NOT FAIL HER

Smiles When the Blood Stained Carpet Was Laid Before Witness in Court Room Today.

Washington, Nov. 30.—Mrs. Bonine's magnificent nerve continued to uphold her today when on the floor by the witness stand was spread the carpet which was on the Ayres room at the time of his death. The defendant simply smiled at its presence. The bloodstains on it were identified by Lieut. Moore, Ayres' trunk and a section of the wall were placed in a position similar to the time of his death and defendant's wrappers, all bloodstained was passed to the jury.

The government rested its case in the Bonine trial at one o'clock.

Washington, Nov. 30.—District Attorney Gould, who is conducting the prosecution in the Bonine murder trial, scored another surprise on the defense when he produced in court a statement made by Mrs. Bonine in the office of the Washington chief of police on May 17. This statement was made three days before Mrs. Bonine's confession to the police, which resulted in her arrest. The defense did not know it was in existence. It was taken down by a shorthand clerk without the knowledge of Mrs. Bonine. Mrs. Bonine in the statement produced today told the police that Ayres was a model young man with one fault—this was the drinking habit. He was, she said, an attractive man to women. She admitted dancing with Ayres on a number of occasions and admitted that her husband was out of town for months at a time. When asked if she was ever in Ayres' room she said that she had often stood in the doorway with Ayres, but never went inside. The first intimation she had of the death of Ayres, she said, was when told by some one in the house that the young man had shot himself.

M'GILLVAY WILL FIGHT J. J. ESCH

Black River Falls State Senator Wants
La Crosse Man's Place in Congress.

LaCrosse, Wis., Nov. 30.—A Black River Falls dispatch states that Senator M. McGillvay will oppose Congressman J. J. Esch in the next election, and that he will not wait until then, but begin his campaign now. The dispatch says that Mr. McGillvay is banking himself in opposing Esch by declaring that the latter has not at any time declared himself on the state issues. Congressman Esch left for Washington last night.

London, Nov. 30.—Florence Nightingale, the world's famous nurse and philanthropist, is reported seriously ill.

LIVE STOCK SHOW OPENS TONIGHT; CATTLE, HORSES, SHEEP AND HOGS

Entries for the Chicago Exposition Are Coming in at a Rapid Rate--Many Questions of Public Importance Will Be Taken Up.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—There will be a hopes on an attendance of 1,000,000 people during the exposition. Not one connected with the enterprise will reduce that figure of expected attendance.

The total number of arrivals is far in excess of the total number of last year. More than 10,000 prize animals will be shown. A number of car lot exhibits will be here, being located just outside the main stock-yards entrance.

Problems to Come Up

Many questions of public importance are to be taken up at this convention. Among other matters there will be a consideration of ways and means to secure legislation making it necessary for manufacturers of shoddy goods to stamp their product for what it really is. This is a measure in which the sheep men of the country are specially interested.

It is asserted that 40,000,000 pounds of "shoddy" is now annually used in the manufacture of so-called woolsens. While the sheep men are not desirous of throttling this industry, they are anxious to have a law passed which will enable the purchaser to know what he is getting—in other words, to protect the person who wants genuine woolsens against the danger of buying a substitute.

Every Stall Is Full

Fully two-thirds of the entries had been received at the pavilion this morning. By noon every stall and every pen was filled with some of the best specimens of fine stock ever exhibited at a stock show.

The new exposition and the buildings adjoining it give fifteen acres of room under roof and five acres of open pens. Railroad rates cheaper than were granted at the world's fair, and the Buffalo exposition are in effect. The management has fixed its

WINNEBAGOES ARE GIVEN THEIR PAY

Picturesque Sight at Tomah, Wis., on the Distribution--Each Indian Gets $10.25.

Tomah, Wis., Nov. 30.—The annual payment of the Winnebago Indians is being made here and will continue through today. The town is full of red-skins, clad in costumes ranging from the picturesque to the grotesque. The squaws—big and fat—wear bright colored shawls over their heads, their feet clad in brightly beaded moccasins. Drunkenness is not an uncommon sight, but not so much at Tomah as at other pay stations.

Paymaster Alexander Jacobson of Wittenberg is in charge of the payment, and gives every man, woman and child whose name is enrolled on the lists of the tribe the sum of $10.25. This is the interest on the $300,000 which the government owes the Winnebagoes for land bought several years ago. There are 1,339 Indians enrolled this year, just four fewer than last year. Payments have been made at Wittenberg and Necedah, and next week another payment will be made at Black River Falls.

The streets of Tomah present a strange sight with the gaily bedecked braves and squaws and paposes. Tonight there will be a great deal of drunkenness. If the scenes of former payments are repeated, but the officials state that here is much less of this now than in former times.

PLAINFIELD SWEEP BY A BIG FIRE

Seven Buildings Destroyed Before
Houses Are Blown Up by Dynamite to Stop Flames.

Plainfield, Wis., Nov. 30.—Seven buildings all frame save one, valued at $30,000, with stocks valued at $20,000, were destroyed by fire last night. The loss is covered by insurance. The burned property includes:

Dr. D. F. McIntosh's office, Bank of Plainfield, Hirschfeld's restaurant, Moses Cohen's store, A. Pierce's meat market, J. H. Marshall's general store, and G. S. Hall's photograph gallery.

The fire was checked by the use of dynamite, with which frame buildings in the path of the flames were blown up.

Hanna Gives $5,000

Cleveland, Nov. 30.—Hanna today announced a five thousand dollar contribution to the McKinley memorial fund.

MISS STONE NOT DEAD

A Letter Received at Sofia Says She Was Alive Nov. 28--Will Not Be Killed.

Sofia, Nov. 30.—Reports in a letter received from Dubnitsa, dated Nov. 28, state that Miss Stone and Mme. Tsilka were alive Thanksgiving day. The information is also given that the bandits have not decided to kill the captives anyway. The committee wants the full amount of the ransom, however.

In the Railway Wreck

Mrs. Mary Drake and son, W. H. Drake, have arrived in this city from New York and are visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Burdick. They were in the fearful railroad wreck on the Wabash road near Seneca, Mich., last Wednesday night, being passengers on train No. 13. This was the train which was so badly demolished and which included the two cars of Italian immigrants who were burned to death. Mrs. Drake and son consider their escape unhurt miraculous.

M'GOVERN DESIRES TO FIGHT AGAIN

Harris Posts $2,500 Forfeit and Seeks Early Battle with Corbett—
$20,000 Winner Takes All.

New York, Nov. 30.—Still unnerfed by his defeat at the hands of "Young Corbett" at Hartford on Thursday afternoon, Terry McGovern intends to take every means to induce his conqueror to meet him again. McGovern thinks he is entitled to another chance, and does not see how Corbett can refuse.

This afternoon Sam Harris, his manager visited a downtown office and posted $2,500 as a forfeit to bind another battle. Accompanying his money Harris issued a long statement in which he named the terms for another struggle. The ex-champion's offer is a sweeping one and calls for a twenty-round bout for $20,000 a side, the victor to take all the spoils. Harris is willing to bet a lot of money that Terry can put Corbett to sleep inside of twenty rounds.

ONE MAN KILLED IN RAILWAY WRECK

G. E. Sanderson, a Stockman, Lost
His Life Near Sparta, in a Collision.

La Crosse, Wis., Nov. 30.—A wreck in which one man was killed and another slightly injured occurred on the Chicago & Northwestern railroad at the west entrance of tunnel No. 3, between Sparta and Summit. Freight train No. 78 eastbound, stalled in the tunnel, and the engine crew on account of smoke and gas were obliged to cut the engine from the train to escape. The air brakes released themselves, allowing the train to back down the steep grade, striking a special freight that was just entering the tunnel. G. E. Sanderson, a stockman of Trempealeau, Wis., who was in charge of blooded stock for the Chicago live stock show, was instantly killed and one brakeman slightly injured. Traffic was blocked several hours.

EUDORA F. WALES, MALACHI C. FISH

Well Known Local People Married in Chicago on Thursday Evening at 6 O'clock.

Miss Eudora F. Wales, of Delavan, Wis., and Malachi C. Fish, of this city were married at the home of the bride's cousin in Chicago, Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock. The wedding was a very quiet one and even relatives of the groom know no details beyond the hour at which the ceremony was solemnized. The groom, doubtless haunted by memories of practical jokes at the expense of friends on the occasion of his marriage, was very reticent concerning his own wedding and absolutely refused to reveal any of his plans or to tell when he and his bride might be expected home.

On their return to Janesville, Mr. and Mrs. Fish will be the recipients of many hearty congratulations. The bride is one of Delavan's popular and accomplished young women and is quite well known in this city, having made her home here at one time. The groom is one of the city's prosperous business men, being vice president of the Wisconsin Carriage company. His merit has won success for him in the business world and his genial nature has surrounded him with a host of sincere personal friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Fish will doubtless return home tonight or tomorrow and will go at once to housekeeping in their handsomely furnished home at 257 Ravine street. Whatever happiness and prosperity the future may have in store for them will not be greater than the joy and success wished for them by their friends.

Misses Margaret Jackman and Sarah Sutherland are home from the state university to spend their Thanksgiving holiday.

ONE HUNDRED AND NINE ARE DEAD; CREW IS BLAMED FOR THE WRECK

Engineer Strong, Who Was Primarily Responsible for the Seneca Disaster, Has Gone Insane.

Adrian, Mich., Nov. 30.—Testimony that he left Detroit with 181 through the bodies of persons killed in the Wabash train wreck near Seneca, threw the responsibility for the collision on the trainmen, or at least the engineer of the east bound train. This was shown by the train dispatcher's books. The accused crew was unable to be present on account of injuries and the inquest was postponed.

It was revealed at the inquest from the conductor's records that 102 of the immigrants on the westbound train could not be accounted for. These, with the seven known dead on the other train, make the total probable loss of life 109.

Strong Will Be Arrested

Engineer Strong is said to be in a serious condition and probably insane. His recovery is doubtful. Arrest for manslaughter will undoubtedly follow the verdict of the jury.

The testimony of Conductor Trowl showed a loss of over 100. He says

REACHING OUT FOR COAL LAND

New Move by Pennsylvania

WALL STREET WILD

sett Interested in a Gigantic Trust Enterprise.

MERGE ALL RAILWAYS

New York, Nov. 30.—In explanation of the remarkable rise in the price of Reading and other coal road shares it was said in Wall street today that the Pennsylvania company is buying up the shares to secure controlling interests in every one of the coal carriers. Pennsylvania already controls 10,440 miles of railroads, besides vast deposits of coal. If its attempt to get control of the other coalers is successful it will have almost 25,000 miles of railroad. The First National bank is the open purchaser of Reading stock, and it was not until today that Pennsylvania was said to be behind the deal.

Morgan in the Deal.

Reading recently acquired the Jersey Central through J. P. Morgan, and it is now said Morgan is securing stock in the other coal roads and in the Reading itself for the sole purpose of turning the entire outfit over to Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania also bought largely of Wabash stock today. The total capital stock and bonded indebtedness of these roads would be greater than that of the steel trust. It is said that this vast scheme of the Pennsylvania company was devised by W. K. Vanderbilt, A. J. Cassatt and J. P. Morgan, and that all three are bending every energy to accomplish it. These combined companies will own wharves from which iron and coal can be shipped anywhere.

Plan Three Great Combines.

Wall street theorists suggest that Morgan and his friends have plotted three great railroad and industrial trusts for the United States. According to them the Pennsylvania company will be the eastern end of the Central system, which will reach the Pacific by way of the Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific and Atchafalpa railroads. The New York Central system, joined with the Northern Pacific, Burlington, St. Paul and Great Northern and interlocking lines would care for the northern section of the country. Southern business is to be transacted by way of the Southern railway, Seaboard Air line, Louisville and Nashville and southern systems, of which the Mexican Central and Mexican National will be the feeders in the far south.

Four Highlander Victims.

San Francisco, Nov. 30.—Two Chinese are dead and two others, mortally wounded, lie at the receiving hospital as the result of two murderous attacks in Chinatown. Both shootings were the culmination of a long-standing feud between high-binder associations.

Duel in a Ballroom.

Dubois, Ill., Nov. 30.—Charles Evisizer, the city marshal, and Henry Cameron of Ashley fought a pistol duel at a ball here, Evisizer receiving three wounds and Cameron four. Both will probably die. The shooting resulted from a quarrel over a woman.

Judge Excludes Tuberculosis.

New York, Dec. 2.—Judge Thomas, in the United States Circuit Court, this morning gave a decision upholding the Treasury ruling denying the right of immigrants affected with tuberculosis to enter this country.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF ENDEAVORERS

Very Pleasant Affair Which Was Enjoyed by About 150 People—
Details of the Event.

The annual banquet of the Christian Endeavor society of the Congregational church was held last evening and was a very pleasant affair, about one hundred and fifty members being gathered around the banquet tables and enjoying the evening in an informal social manner.

The long tables were spread in the Sunday school room and the natural attractiveness of this room, with its prettily decorated walls and beautiful pictures, was enhanced by decorations of purple and white bunting, purple being the Christian Endeavor color. Cozy corners, arranged with easy chairs, sofa cushions and rugs, made inviting retreats.

Into this pleasant room the guests were ushered about one o'clock, the half hour preceding having been spent in assembling and exchanging greetings in the church parlors below. In the temporary absence of Rev. R. C. Denison, grace was said by Prof. G. M. Brace after which all present found the central attraction in the appetizing tables which composed the tempting supper. The menu follows:

Menu.
Scalloped Potatoes. Bread and Butter
Cold Ham. Midget Pickles
Coffee

Fruit Salad. Wafers
Charlotte Russe. Bananas
The guests were waited upon by Mesdames F. A. Capelle, C. D. Capelle, Minnie Menzies, H. J. Cunningham and J. H. Nicholson and Misses Franc Edwards, Mary Farnsworth, Jessie Echlin, Gertrude Cobb, Belle Allen and Josephine Farnsworth. The ladies were ably assisted by A. E. Matheson, W. S. Jeffris, C. D. Capelle and F. A. Capelle who volunteered their services to pour the coffee.

After supper came the post prandial program which was very entertaining. H. J. Cunningham presided pleasantly as toastmaster. Miss Ada Fenton, president of the society, responded to the toast, "Those Evening Bells," making her response an invitation to all to join the topic.

"Johnny Comes Marching Home," was the usual topic assigned Paul Porter and he gave a very pleasing response in which young recruits just passing from the Junior work to the Christian Endeavor society were compared to the soldiers marching home with pleasant anticipations of the good things to eat and of the welcome awaiting. Master Porter is one of these young recruits and he performed the first duty assigned him by the Christian Endeavor society in a very capable manner.

Miss Coral Bonesteel gave an exceptionally well written response to the toast "1920," making a bright prophecy about the Christian Endeavor society of that time and amusing predictions concerning some of the members.

Miss May Cunningham was unable to be present and her response to "Looking Backward" was read by Miss Edith Echlin. It was very clever and humorous being an "epic poem" with notes by the author on each verse. Oscar Halverson also gave those present an opportunity for laughter by his interpretation of "A Realized Ideal." The realized ideals which he ascribed to some of the members of the society were very amusing.

Rev. Robert C. Denison made a very entertaining toast out of "Spots" and after referring to grease spots, ink spots and various other undesirable spots he said that there were spots which all should make for themselves, bright spots in life.

The program of toasts was intermingled with music, Roy Carter delighting those present with several piano solos, rendered in his brilliant and talented manner. He was compelled to respond to encores and his playing was one of the most brilliant features of the banquet. G. W. Dudley, who is the happy possessor of a very fine baritone voice, sang a tenor solo "The Tale of a Bumblebee" in a pleasing manner that won him continued applause. The committee had also expected to entertain their guests with a baritone solo by a tenor soloist but the singer was unable to be present.

After the program some time was spent in an enjoyable social manner. The committee which had charge of the arrangements for the banquet included Misses Coral Bonesteel, Helen Estes, Alice Estes, Nettie Kent and Edna Rogers and Messrs. Oscar Halverson and Charles Johnson.

THE DRUGGISTS.

Oh, wondrous druggist, what would we do
If kindly fate had not given us you?
'Tis to you we come with our troubles and ills,
For divers powders and divers pills.

You're the first place to which all humanity
Runs
From a pain in the head to a pain in the toes.
They know you are certain to give them relief
For the ill of this life, of which theirs is the chief.

To you comes the man with the flowery nose,
For something to lessen the hue of the rose.
Don't fail him now for well he knows
He will need your assistance when home he goes.

To you come people too stout, too slim;
Give them and fat, give them and thin.
If air restorer the bald man buy;
The callow youth wants mustache dye.

To you comes the lady whose eyes are not Bright;
Give her bolleedonna and all will be right.
Likewise the lady whose cheeks are too pale.
Now for your rouge you will have a sale.

To you comes the fellow, his sweet heart to Treat;
He wants a phosphate, or some cooling drink,
Now pray be careful and don't mix the wink.

To you we come for powders and pills;
For pens and ink, and to change our bill;
For leeches and plasters, for candy and gum;
For almost everything under the sun.

We come to you for postage stamps;
We use your directory and telephone;
You're there to listen each time we groan.

Oh wondrous druggist, what would we do
If kindly fate had not given us you?
Some help to help into the world, some you help
Through;
And others are helped from this world by you

GREAT SUCCESS OF J. LEWIS DRAPER

J. Lewis Draper, formerly of this city, now of Chicago, is well on the high road to fortune according to the Rockford Daily Republic.

"The Draper Press," of Chicago, has just issued a neat little booklet giving a history of the enterprise from its inception, in 1891, to the present time. The booklet tells of the progress of an old Janesville boy, J. Lewis Draper, who has made a splendid success of the work he took up ten years ago and which is now one of the largest enterprises of its kind in the west.

J. Lewis Draper was a popular young man when he moved in this city and was a general favorite among his associates. He went from here to Rockford and was employed by A. W. Wheelock, for some time.

He founded the Draper Press in 1891, publishing first the commercial journal "The Wool and Hide Shipper." This was afterward changed to "Wool Markets and Sheep," the name it bears today. At that time the business was conducted in a small office and Mr. Draper was assisted by but one clerk. The business expanded, other journals were merged with the original publication, and November 16, 1898, a stock company was organized to conduct the constantly increasing business. In 1899 the "Dairy and Creamery" was founded and this immediately sprang to the largest circulation in the country among dairy papers. "Commercial Poultry" is the third and latest venture and this is going even beyond the fondest hopes of its originators. Eight office rooms alone are now used, a splendidly equipped printing establishment does the mechanical work and the concern is the largest of its kind in the country.

A Village Blacksmith Saved His Little Son's Life.

Mr. H. H. Black, the well known village blacksmith at Grahamsville, Sullivan Co., N. Y., says: "Our little son, five years old, has always been subject to croup, and so had have the attacks been that we feared many times that he would die. We have had the doctor and used many medicines, but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is now our sole reliance. It seems to dissolve the tough mucus and by giving frequent doses when the croupy symptoms appear we have found that the dreaded croup is cured before it gets settled. There is no danger in giving this remedy, for it contains no opium, or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a babe as to an adult. A Great Medicine.
"I have used Chamberlain's colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and find it to be a great medicine," says Mr. E. S. Phipps, of Poteau, Ok. "It cured me of bloody flux. I cannot speak too highly of it." This remedy always wins the good opinion, if not the praise of those who use it. The quick cures which it effects even in the most severe cases make it a favorite everywhere. For sale by People's Drug Co. and King's pharmacy.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

One of the season's most important appearances here will be that of "Quo Vadis." Thursday, Dec. 5, Money has been spent lavishly in getting the play ready for the stage and much is expected of it. Music which is to be a feature of the production, has had great attention. Julian Edwards, composer of a number of successful operas, wrote the music, which includes hymns for the pagans.

the vestal virgins, and the Christians, the wild, maddening dances of the corymbes, the lament of the Emperor Nero over his dead child, the bacchanalian chants, sung by the revelers at Nero's banquet, and the dramatic music throughout the play. To interpret this music a chorus is employed. The costumes, made from designs of Baruch in Berlin, Germany, and are copies of the robes depicted in works of art, ancient and modern.

Louis Morrison's Faust will be the next attraction at the Myers Grand and it will be given a more Lewis Morrison's Faust magnificent production than ever before. The beautiful story told in the play will never grow old and the new spectacular effects are well worth seeing. It will be at the Myers Grand Tuesday evening, Dec. 3.

Critics are as a rule rather unique and sometimes very original in their analysis of a book or play and a good example of this is in the beginning of a criticism of a Kentucky writer not long since on the new play, "Her Lord and Master," which Herbert Kelcey and Effie Shannon are producing this year. This gentleman writes "Of strawberries someone has said that the Lord might have made a better fruit, but he didn't do it. If the drama 'Her Lord and Master,' it could be said with equal truth that somebody might have written a prettier, sweeter, cleaner, dancier little play, but no one has."

Miss Amelia Bingham has added Miss Cora Tanner to her forces. This well-known American actress will be seen in one of the leading roles of "The Climbers" which will shortly be presented in this city.

WHAT CAUSES DEAFNESS

The Principal Cause is Curable but Generally Overlooked
Many things may cause deafness, and very often it is difficult to trace a cause. Some people inherit deafness. Acute diseases like scarlet fever some times cause deafness. But by far the most common cause of loss of hearing is catarrh of the head and throat.

A prominent specialist on ear troubles gives as his opinion that nine out of ten cases of deafness is traced to throat trouble; this is probably overstated, but it is certainly true that more than half of the cases of poor hearing were caused by catarrh.

The catarrhal secretion in the nose and throat finds its way into the Eustachian tube and by clogging it up very soon affects the hearing, and the hardening of the secretion makes the loss of hearing permanent, unless the catarrh which caused the trouble is cured. Those who are hard of hearing may think this is a little far fetched, but any one at all observant must have noticed how a hard cold in the head will affect the hearing and that catarrh if long neglected will certainly impair the sense of hearing and ultimately cause deafness.

If the nose and throat are kept clear and free from the unhealthy secretions of catarrh, the hearing will at once greatly improve and anyone suffering from deafness and catarrh can satisfy themselves on this point by using a fifty cent box of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, a new catarrh cure, which in the past year has won the approval of thousands of catarrh sufferers, as well as physicians, because it is in convenient form to use, contains no cocaine or opiate and is as safe and pleasant for children as for their elders.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets is a wholesome combination of blood root, Chaulmooc, Eucalyptol and similar antiseptics and they cure catarrh and catarrhal deafness by action upon the blood and mucous membrane of the nose and throat.

As one physician aptly expresses it: "You do not have to draw upon the imagination to discover whether you are getting benefit from Stuart's Catarrh Tablets; improvement and relief are apparent from the first tablet taken."

All druggists sell and recommend them. They cost but fifty cents for full sized package and any catarrh sufferer who has wasted time and money on sprays, salves and powders will appreciate to the full merit Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

Badger Diamond Medal
Sergeant Root of Co. L, First regiment W. N. G. of Beloit, has received the Badger diamond medal which he holds for one year by virtue of making the best score for 200 and 300 yards in two days, competition at the state rifle team contest. If he wins it three years in succession it will become his personal property. The medal has so far been held by two other men one of whom had it two years but failed to make good in the third year's contest.

The medal is a handsome piece of work. It represents an old mill and the water wheel is set with diamonds while a spray of leaves has a setting of emeralds. The medal is valued at $200.

Sergeant Root formerly resided in this city and was a member of Co. I. His many friends in this city congratulate him on his success.

Difficult Digestion

That is dyspepsia.
It makes life miserable.

Its sufferers eat not because they want to—but simply because they must.

They complain of a bad taste in the mouth, a tenderness at the pit of the stomach, a feeling of puffy fullness, headache, heartburn and what not.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cured Joseph F. Latna, Flanagan, Ky., who writes: "I was troubled with dyspepsia for a number of years and took medicine that did me no good. I was advised by friends to try Hood's Sarsaparilla which I did and it put my bowels in perfect condition, gave me strength and energy and made me feel like a new person."

The Tobacco Market

We do not think enough attention has been given, either here or elsewhere, says the Lancaster New Era, to the experiments carried on in Lancaster last winter by the government experts in fermenting tobacco in the bulk, and we believe the result of that work deserves to be better known not only here at home but abroad. Experiments were carried on at eight different warehouses in bulk sweating, and in all nearly all or quite 1,000 cases were fermented, and it has been entirely eliminated by this process. It is true, there has been less than the usual amount of black rot and must in the case-sweated tobacco, showing that the crop was less liable to that damage than it generally is, but still there was some; while in the bulk-sweated there was none at all, comparatively speaking. Those practices it is so well satisfied that they are not likely to go back to the old plan, while the present indications are that the practice will become very general hereafter, especially where the packings are large enough to incur the expense of the necessary apparatus. Some dealers have a prejudice against this method, claiming that it is fore-sweated, but that is a mistake, because the idea pursued by the government's representatives has been to keep up only a summer temperature, and have the tobacco generate its own heat, just as it does when sweating in cases in the summer. There can be no plausible objection to such method, as it is the identical one practiced in Sumatra, Cuba and Florida, and no one ever hears of objections to those tobaccos in the matter of fermentation. A strong argument in favor of bulk curing is that every hand is cured evenly and there is no raw tobacco, such as is on the outside, tops and bottoms of case-cured goods. The method is new, and will have to make its way by its own merits, but the indications are that it will do so rapidly.

department has now for disposal a considerable quantity of tobacco manufactured from the crop grown in various parts of the country in 1900. The kinds to be disposed of include plug, roll or twist, cut cavendish, cut plug, birdseye, cigar and cigarette articles. The department has already received offers for the purchase of a large quantity of its stock, and many private inquiries have been addressed to the department for particulars. The tobacco made from the crop of 1900 is not by any means so strong as that of 1899, and, having been grown and issued by a specially appointed expert, should bring a better price. There is a steadily increasing demand for this home-grown tobacco, and Irish and English dealers who purchase it should have no difficulty in selling at a paying profit. The heavy duty certainly tells against the grower, but if this difficulty could be even slightly remedied through the action of the department, it would go a very long way towards making tobacco-growing in Ireland a profitable pursuit.

The damp, drizzly weather of last week in New England was just what growers desired and larger quantities of leaf are now being taken from the poles and stripping has begun in earnest. When this work has been completed buyers will be able to get a line on the quality of the crop and business will resume its annual activity. While the amount of pole sweat is not yet determinable, local authorities advise a very careful handling and prophesy that holders of good leaf will not lack purchasers at good prices. This would seem to indicate that those best informed of the quality of the crop are inclined to believe that it will be short, and from their advice to handle very carefully they evidently believe the damage is considerably more than growers have been inclined to admit. What leaf has come out undamaged is light, silky and thin, and the fortunate growers who possess this quality of tobacco will have no difficulty in disposing of it at good prices. Several small sales are reported, the variance in the leaf being indicated by the prices, which range from 12 to 20 cents. P. Dennerlein & Sons of New York are understood to have been the largest buyers so far.

The Dublin correspondent of the London "Tobacco Trade Review" writes: "I am glad to be in a position to state that the experimental trials of tobacco-growing instituted some time since by the department of agriculture and technical instruction for Ireland have this year resulted most successfully, and that the

AN OPEN LETTER

Addressed to Women by the Treasurer of the W.C.T.U. of Kansas City, Mrs. E. C. Smith.

"My DEAR SISTERS:—I believe in advocating and upholding everything that will lift up and help women, and but little use appears all knowledge and learning if you have not the health to enjoy it.

"Having found by personal experience that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine of rare virtue, and having seen dozens of cures where my suffering sisters have been dragged back to life and usefulness from an untimely grave simply by the use of a few bottles of that Compound, I must proclaim its virtues, or I should not be doing my duty to suffering mothers and dragged-out housekeepers.

"Dear Sister, is your health poor, do you feel worn out and used up, especially do you have any of the troubles which beset our sex, take my advice; let the doctors alone, try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it is better than any and all doctors, for it cures and they do not."—Mrs. E. C. Smith, 1212 Oak St., Treasurer W. C. T. U., Kansas City, Mo.

MRS. E. C. SMITH.

What is left for the women of America after reading such a letter as the above, but to believe. Don't some of you who are sick and miserable feel how wicked you are to remain so, making life a burden for yourself and your friends when a cure is easily and inexpensively obtained? Don't you think it would pay to drop some of your old prejudices as Mrs. Smith says, and "Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is better than all the doctors for cures?" Surely, the experience of hundreds of thousands of women whom the Compound has cured should convince all women of the wisdom of taking the advice that Mrs. Smith offers in her letter above published.

Read What Mrs. Burnham says:

"DEAR Mrs. PINKHAM:—Words fail to express how thankful I am to you for your advice, and I cannot speak too highly of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was sick for three years with female weakness; I had dizzy spells, headache, backache, feet and hands were cold all the time, would get tired and faint very easily. I also had dropsy and was troubled with leucorrhoea. I suffered for two weeks before each menstrual period and my ovaries would swell very badly. I took lots of medicine from doctors, but received no benefit. To please my husband I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am now a well woman, and your Compound alone did it."—Mrs. H. W. BURNHAM, Russell, Mich. (Jan. 31, 1901).

Follow the record of this medicine, and remember that these thousands of cures of women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper were not brought about by "something else," but by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Moral—Stick to the medicine that you know is best. Write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letters are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

THE CALL TO SERVICE.

"I am not eloquent, but I am slow of speech, and of a slow tongue."

After this apology the young man waited to be urged again to go forth on a mission that had to do with the welfare of a nation.

He had started out that bright June morning for a day among the hills with his flocks and herds, for he was simply a shepherd boy, working for a meager salary for the father of the girl who had become his wife.

Following a hill side path, his attention was attracted to a bush that was on fire and stopped to watch it for a moment, and was surprised to notice that it did not burn up. Approaching it out of curiosity, he was arrested by a voice that seemed to come out of the flame, and he was advised to take off his shoes, because he was standing on sacred ground, and when he heard his name spoken he realized that God was talking with him.

Moses, like a great many other young men, was timid and diffident. He lacked confidence in himself, and while he could take care of another man's sheep, that seemed to him the extent of his ability and the height of his ambition.

So when the mysterious voice suggested a larger field of operation, and greater possibilities, calling attention to the fact that his own countrymen and relatives were waiting for a guide to lead them out of bondage, and that he was the man to do it, he trembled at the thought of responsibility and said, "that's all right and a good thing to do, but I can't do it, send somebody, but don't send me."

Moses was not only timid but he was persistent, and in spite of all that the Lord could do, or promise in the way of support, he was obliged to compromise with him, by suggesting that his brother was a good talker and he could take him along to do the talking, and so the arrangement was made, and the shepherd boy from the life of freedom from care and responsibility, started out on short notice to become in time the leader of a great nation and establish for himself a name that will live as long as the Mosaic law endures.

The name of this old bible character is a household word, and will continue to be. The story of the baby found in the rush cradle, and nourished by the king's daughter, has been the nursery story of the centuries.

The common shepherd boy became a great man, not because of any wonderful traits of character, that the years of boyhood developed. Or because he was brighter than the average boy, but because he listened to the voice of duty, and though doubting his ability, obeyed.

He was not egotistical, and never wasted any time in building air castles or painting pictures of future greatness, he was simply honest and conscientious, and when he abandoned the life of a shepherd, for new and strange experiences, he was the same timid boy, "slow of speech," but inspired by a purpose to perform a task that seemed impossible, because the voice of duty had called him to service.

If he had lived in modern times and had been asked to take a letter to Garfield, he would have asked a great many questions, and the important message would not have been entrusted to him, because of the lack of confidence in his own ability. The boy Moses was an ordinary boy, honest and faithful in his humble surroundings, satisfied with his work, not aspiring to fame or greatness, and yet possessing possibilities that under the spur of duty, developed one of the strongest characters of ancient times.

There are thousands of young men today in this land and age of special privilege, who are looking out into life, if any time is spent in looking, content with their lot, and satisfied to jog along and take things as they come.

While contentment should be encouraged and promoted, it is not always the highest virtue. It is well for people after they pass the meridian of life and are quietly slipping down the other side, to be contented with their lot. But young people who have all the prizes to win, should be inspired, not only with ambition, but eyes should be kept open for the burning bush, and ears unstopped for the still small voice that calls to service and increased responsibility.

because it is not audible, and it is because it is not audible, and it is frequently more easy to ignore than in the case of Moses, because it lacks the force of miraculous demonstration. But it contains a message that no young man can afford to slight.

The conversation that a man carries on with himself, when thought prompts him to look into the future, and forecast events, is always time well spent. When a young man comes to himself, the most important experience that ever comes to him, it is the result of one of these quaint talks where no one is present but himself.

The voice suggests a course of preparation for service, that no young man can afford to neglect, because the days of preparation are limited, and they never come to a life but once.

It says to the boy in school, don't let your heels get away with your head. You are laying a foundation for the future and if it is defective it will always be weak, and the building that is going onto it by and by, will be insecure, and you will be obliged to occupy it just the same. There are a great many weak frames and vacant minds because of imperfect foundations caused by neglecting the opportunities back in the days of school life.

It says to the young man in the shop or store, "You are traveling a little fast for your income, and your associations are a little demoralizing. Better cut off this companion or that, keep out of the saloon, cultivate the society of good people, and rise to the dignity of independent manhood."

The voice of conscience that prompts to the highest service, is a wholesome voice and no young man can afford to disregard the call.

It is a wise voice, and is not influenced by environments. It may be talking to a young man, who is slow of speech, and skeptical, or to the other extreme of egotism and full of self confidence, the voice is always the same. It spurs to duty or checks extravagance, with the same unerring faithfulness.

It says to the young man who lacks ambition, "The world is full of great opportunities, they are for you if you will grasp them." To the boy that knows it all, "Go a little slow and learn to peddle before you strike out as a merchant."

The young man who stops by the burning bush, and spends an hour talking to himself, arguing every point if need be, as did Moses, has squandered no time. It may be the best hour that he ever spent.

The call to service is a sacred call, and the man who recognizes it is in his best estate. The service may be irksome, and not the kind that would be selected from choice, but all service is important, and the world is full of want.

The highest service is the service of the Master, and the field is broad enough to engage the attention of every thoughtful mind. The harvest is always ripe and the laborers all too few. It is possible for anyone to be a tiler in the vineyard, and the voice that arrested the shepherd boy so many years ago, and changed the current of his life is a real voice today, speaking as directly as when it appeared to Moses from the wayside bush.

"THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME"

"Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home."

Written many years ago but just as true today as ever.

It takes more than sentiment to make a home.

People are frequently full of sentiment, and full of poverty.

It requires more than honesty to build a home.

You may be too honest to beat a railroad, and live on charity.

It takes more than money to make a home.

It is possible to roll in wealth and own a castle, and yet be as destitute of a home as a bachelor.

It takes a true man and a loyal woman, with hearts full of self-sacrificing love, to start a home.

It requires time, and patience, work and ambition, to establish it, and genuine devotion to maintain it.

Wealth may adorn it and contribute to its comfort, or poverty may pinch and cause distress, but love controls, and happiness is the prevailing condition.

There are too many homes that are simply places where people stay. A name without the substance, a song without melody, and full of discord.

It may be the fault of the husband or the wife may be to blame, possibly both have made mistakes and as a result the altar fire has burned low.

The children may be thoughtless and reckless. They may lack appreciation and contribute to the general discord, by fault-finding and discontent.

Where any of these conditions prevail a little thoughtful attention would suggest a halt, and if the finer sensibilities are not destroyed, reform will follow and ideal home life restored.

A genuine home where love reigns supreme, is the most sacred spot on earth. It is the haven of safety and rest, where the family gather at the close of the day to find a retreat.

If you enjoy such a home this Saturday night, appreciate it, for it is priceless. If it is not all that it should be, put a little more genuine love into it and results may be surprising.

PRESS COMMENT.

More Prosperity.
Evening Wisconsin: The old Pennsylvania, which is known as one of the backbone railroads of the world, is preparing for a colossal business. It intends to expend during the next year on locomotives, cars and other equipments, $25,000,000. This presumes that the iron and steel trade will continue very active during the next year. Our iron and steel industry is now controlling the world, and there appears to be no let-up in the demand. Germany suffers seriously from this competition. The Pennsylvania is also building at Pittsburgh a $2,000,000 station—so expensive that Carnegie declares it to be unwise. Further, the company is straightening and improving its lines, materially between Pittsburgh and Harrisburg.

Council Bluffs Nonpareil: Carrie Nation is charged by her husband with having taken away his feather bed and $900 in money. She in turn charges him with refusing to build the fire on a cold morning and with being a "hell-bound hypocrite." If it is this sort of a home which Carrie arrays against the saloon no wonder the saloon gives a quiet little gurgle of satisfaction.

Racine Journal: The Hudson Star-Times resurrects a little book called "Governor Scofield's Record as shown by the official acts." Issued in a certain memorable campaign with the avowed intention of advancing the interests of the present governor. This Hudson paper insists factionalism had its origin in La Folletteism.

New Richmond Republican Voice: Again we call attention to the fact that La Follette would stand much better with the so-called plain people today, had he devoted more time and attention last winter to tax reform, which the people want and demand, and less to the primary election scheme, which the people do not want.

Evening Wisconsin: Gov Van Sant of Minnesota appears to be doubtful as to who will pay the freight.

Green Bay Gazette: According to the New York official count the independent vote elected Seth Low mayor. That is, it furnished the vote necessary in addition to the regular republican vote. Of course, the independents are entitled to credit for the victory, but not all the credit belongs to them.

Milwaukee Sentinel: A gold cure institution announces that it is prepared to treat ambitious cities afflicted with the exposition building mania.

Milwaukee News: After all, Gov. Van Sant doesn't act like a man with a bob-tail flush.

Milwaukee Free Press: "I always have believed and always will believe that a white man is better than a nigger," says Senator Ben. R. Tillman. There is not the least doubt of the correctness of that. But it makes a difference what nigger is taken for an example, and quite as great difference what white man is. For instance, it would be a pretty mean nigger that would not be as mean a man as Ben. R. Tillman.

Milwaukee Journal: Northern Wisconsin still mourns for the immigration commission, and is not comforted by the thought that the money it used to cost is being spent by a legislation agent at Washington.

Hudson Star-Times: It is said that Gov. La Follette will stump the state for a renomination. Contemplate Fairchild, Smith, Rusk, Hoard or Scofield in such a role! But it is safe to say that the princely luxuriance of a special palace car will not be among the drawing cards.

Waupaca Record: Now that he (Gov. La Follette) has been shown to be a fake reformer who howls against the railroads and then rides at their expense, the justice of the press in informing the people of his duplicity is fully justified.

Shell Lake Watchman: Wonder how Assemblyman A. R. Hall, the father of the anti-pass law and dear friend of the governor, relishes the news that the governor violated the law when he rode on a train during the campaign last fall at a rate that would make a pass ashamed of itself.

They have doers of dastardly deeds in Kansas. A writer tells us of a tragedy committed in the classic wilds of Pratt County: "A scoundrel whose sole is incriminated in strata-gems and spoils rode up to the Golden Valley schoolhouse in Pratt county one night last week and shot the new Sunday school organ through the left lung."

"Oh!" exclaimed the young bride, as they sat at breakfast in the restaurant, "what a tiny little egg the waiter's brought you. Isn't it cute?" "No dear," he said after breaking it, "not cute exactly. It's a child."—Philadelphia Press.

The other day when Counselor Ed. Hassett, one of the sons of Steuben county, met "Jack" Switzer of Bath, father of the American champagne industry at Fifth Avenue hotel, he told him that a friend of his had a new dog. "It's a fighting dog," added the counselor, "and he wants an appropriate name for it."

"Tell him to call it Moreover," said Jack.

"Moreover!" exclaimed counselor Hassett, perplexed.

"Yes," replied Switzer; "Moreover, after the first fighting dog on record."

"Never heard of him!" declared the counselor.

"Go read your bible," then," said Switzer, "and see where it says that 'Moreover, the dog came and licked Lazarus.' I don't know what better Moreover was, but he must have been a fighting dog or he wouldn't have licked Lazarus."—New York Times.

WOES OF A PRINCESS.

Marital Troubles of the Grand Duchess of Hesse.

The Grand Duchess of Hesse, whose marital troubles are furnishing a good deal of gossip in the German capital just now, is a granddaughter of the late queen of England, who, with the czar and an extraordinary assemblage of other sovereigns, was present at her wedding at Coburg seven years ago.

While perhaps not "one of the most beautiful princesses of Europe," she is a high spirited, athletic woman, of whom the German emperor said that in her a splendid soldier was spoiled to make a very ordinary princess. She is a clever horsewoman, takes a deep interest in military affairs, plays golf and tennis, and is an enthusiastic hunter and a crack shot.

The Grand Duke of Hesse is also a grandchild of Queen Victoria and was twenty-six when he married the duchess, she being but eighteen and the youngest married princess in Europe at that time. About a year after their marriage the clash came and was caused by a prank.

During a ball at Darmstadt, Hesse, the duke and other nobles caused the lights to be suddenly extinguished and then amused themselves by catcalling and kissing the women and squirting water over their necks and arms. The grand duchess immediately left the boisterous princeling and went to stay with her elder sister, the crown princess of Romania, declaring she would never return to him again. The quarrel was eventually patched up by Queen Victoria, who managed to restore a semblance of peace, but that soon disappeared.

A POPULAR APPOINTMENT.

General Luke E. Wright as Vice Governor of the Philippines.

An appointment that will give satisfaction to all people familiar with his career is that of General Luke E. Wright of Tennessee as vice governor of the Philippines. When the Philippine commission was appointed by President McKinley, General Wright was the second one named, and he has spent most of his time in the islands since then.

General Wright began his military career in 1861. When the civil war broke out, he entered the Confederate army, enlisting in Company G, One Hundred and Fourth Tennessee Senior regiment. He became a second lieutenant of artillery attached to the division commanded by Generals Bates and Breckinridge, in which capacity he served in the principal engagements of the west under Bragg, Johnston and Hood.

When peace came, General Wright turned to law and has for years been one of the ablest lawyers in the south. He was elected attorney general of Tennessee and held that office for eight years. He has been a power in local and state politics and has twice been sent to national conventions as a delegate. General Wright married the daughter of Admiral Semmes.

ABSOLUTE FAITH

You can depend upon the word of this Janesville Citizen.

He has had the experience. He has thoroughly tested the article.

He has found it as represented.

He has absolute faith in its merit.

Mr. L. Lawrence, of 408 S. Franklin st., engineer at the Janesville Electric Light Co., says:

"Seven years ago I injured my back by falling through a bridge near Afton, into the Rock River. I was on a traction engine, its weight broke through, and the whole thing went into the stream. Since that time my back has ached by spells, sometimes very severely. If I caught cold it settled in my kidneys and if I brought a strain on my back lifting, the result was a bad backache and sharp twinges of pain in my loins. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the People's drug store and after I used them I was free from backache. I am in better health than at any time since falling through the bridge.

Told by Pain

If you have pains you should look after them quickly. Pain shows something is wrong. The sharper the pain the more danger there is in delay. There are thousands of women to-day who are bearing awful pain almost continually, rather than tell a physician about the shooting pains in their lower abdomen, about the agony of falling of the womb and the distress of leucorrhoea. They let the months pass and their trouble becomes harder to cure and more distressing. But modest women can secure exemption from the embarrassment of a private examination. When pain tells them of danger they can cure themselves by the use of

WINE OF CARDUI

In the privacy of their homes. You can be cured without distressing publicity. With these facts before you there is no reason for the delay which is increasing your misery and wasting the days of your life. Why not stop the pain today?

Belen, Miss., March 9, 1900.
I have used one bottle of Wine of Cardui and one package of Theodor's Black-Draught. Before I began to take your medicines I had pains in my back, hips, lower bowels and my arms. Sometimes I thought I would go blind. My head ached and I was so weak I could hardly walk across the floor. Now I can only feel a little of the pain in my side and I am going to use your medicines until I get cured, for I believe they will certainly cure me. I have been married twelve years and am the mother of seven children. I thank you for your wonderful medicine and what it has done for me.

DECIDE IN CASE OF BENNETT VS. LUBY

Summary of the Opinion of the Supreme Court in the Famous Janesville Appeal.

In the decision handed down yesterday by the supreme court it found in the case of C. C. Bennett vs. D. J. Luby, that Luby bought out the interest of George Cram in the firm of Bennett & Cram in March 26, 1897, for $3,400 and the business was conducted under the firm name of Bennett & Luby until November 8, 1897.

At that time Bennett charges Luby with appropriating large amounts of partnership property and money to his own use exceeding his proportion thereof. Luby denied these claims and set up a counter claim of $400 for the reason that Bennett claimed Cram's half interest cost $3,400 when it really cost but $3,000. He also claimed that Bennett made a false inventory of the property and that the inventory showed the business to be worth about $1,300 more than it really was. The third counter claim showed that Luby when charged with fraudulent appropriations of goods, did under duress charge himself on the books of the firm with $250, pay into the firm $200 in cash and gave his note to the firm for $550 to settle in full such false accusation.

That Bennett then asked to be appointed receiver for the firm and was appointed and sold the stock. The accounting was referred to William B. Noyes, of this city who filed his report December 31, 1898, stating an account between the parties. The defendant Luby, moved to set aside the report and upon an affidavit of prejudice the case was transferred to the Dane County court and was by them referred to Rufus B. Smith.

Smith filed his findings of fact and conclusion of law, August 13th, 1900. They were confirmed by the court and judgment entered as follows: The defendant's note of $550 is to be cancelled and the charge of $250 on the books of the firm be cancelled and the defendant recover of the plaintiff the sum of $200 being the sum obtained by duress with interest from Oct. 20, 1897, and in default of the payment of such sum by the plaintiff personally that the plaintiff as receiver pay to the defendant out of the money in his hands the sum of $400 with interest on $200 from October 20, 1897 at 6 per cent. From this judgment the plaintiff appealed.

The opinion of Justice Winslow says: The judgment in this case is certainly anomalous. This action was brought to dissolve a partnership close up its business, settle its accounts, pay its debts and divide the net proceeds. Both the complaint and answer prayed for this relief. The judgment does not dissolve the partnership, does not settle the mutual accounts nor even refer to them. It does not dispose of the residue of the assets in the hands of the receiver and adjudges nothing, except that the defendant is entitled to have an entry on the books cancelled, and to recover back some money and a note he gave the plaintiff under duress. How a judgment could be any less responsive to the pleadings is difficult to imagine. The opinion then goes on to review the evidence in regard to the fraudulent inventory and the loss to the business between the time the last inventory was taken when Luby purchased Cram's interest.

In regard to the charge of duress the justice states, "In this conclusion we cannot agree with the trial court. We have not been able to find any legal duress in the most favorable construction of the evidence."

The claim that the charge on the books against Luby and the note were personal claims was not allowed and held to be assets of the firm.

The court further held: "That the evidence was insufficient to justify setting aside the transaction on the ground of duress, and that Bennett must pay into the firm the shortage in the firm assets of $1,432.10 which was concealed in the inventory March 24, 1897. We have the following as a correct statement of the firm's assets so far as the issues which have been tried and settled in this case are concerned."

"Net assets of firm as found by referee after sale of property and payment of debts by receiver, $493.61; note given by Luby to firm, $550; charge on book against Luby, $250; shortage in firm assets for which Bennett must account to firm, $1,432.10; total assets, $2,725.71."

"The share of each partner is $1,362.85; charge against Luby of $550 note and $250 charge on books, $800; balance due Luby, $562.85."

"If the firm assets in the hands of the receiver or in possession of the court are insufficient to pay Luby the above sum of $562.85, the deficiency shown, should be made a personal judgment against the plaintiff."

Verdict by the court: Judgment reversed and action remanded with directions to render judgment as indicated in the opinion. No costs are to be allowed in favor of either party, except that appellant shall pay the fees of the clerk of the court.

LAST SAD RITES FOR DANIEL O'HARA

Funeral Services Will Be Held at St. Mary's Church Tomorrow Afternoon at 2:30 O'clock.

Funeral services of the late Daniel O'Hara will be held from St. Mary's church tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and his remains will be laid at rest in the Mount Olivet cemetery by the side of his deceased parents, brothers and sisters.

His death, which occurred at the home of his brother, John D. O'Hara, 158 Cornelia street, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock was the result of an illness from which he had suffered for the past five weeks, although he had been confined to his bed only a part of the time.

The announcement of his death has brought keen personal sorrow to many who knew and loved him as a friend. Born in this city and making his home here for the forty one years of his life, he was widely known and justly popular and highly esteemed.

Cheerful, happy-hearted and generous, thoughtful of others and unselfish of self, he was always the best of company, and his life's history was as a son and brother and of faithfulness as a friend.

Deceased was for several years a valued employee in the Gazette office. For the last seven years he had been employed on the Chicago & Northwestern road, as brakeman on the run between Milwaukee and Chicago. He was an accomplished musician and for years played the clarinet with the Flower City band. His death severed another tie by which a happy family circle of father, mother, six sons, and two daughters was once bound together. He is the eighth of that number to pass to the eternal home. Only two of his brothers survive; William O'Hara, of Milwaukee, and John O'Hara of this city, at whose home the deceased young man was cared for so devotedly and tenderly during his last illness.

STUDY THE EARLY HISTORY OF VENICE

History Department of the Art League Hold a Session at Home of Mrs. Geo. S. Parker.

The history department of the Art League held a very interesting meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George S. Parker. The early history of Venice was continued.

Mrs. Mills read of Emperor Frederick Barbarossa and Pope Alexander III. She also read of the great naval victory of the Venetians over Frederick Barbarossa, in the Twelfth Century.

"Blind Old Dandolo" was given by Mrs. E. H. Ryan. Enrico Dandolo was one of the Doges or Dukes of Venice, and leader of the Venetians and Crusaders in the capture of Constantinople 1203-04, and was blinded by order of the emperor, Manuel. Mrs. C. A. Sanborn gave a paper on the Third and Fourth Crusades. In 1189 the reigning sovereigns of the principal states of Europe—Philip Augustus of France, Richard First of England, and Frederick Barbarossa of Germany—were men of eminent talents, and by the influence of Pope Clement III they were induced to unite in a third Crusade.

A Runaway Accident. Miss Minnie Donley had a narrow escape from serious injury in a runaway accident last evening about six o'clock. She was driving north on South Jackson street when William Doran, delivery clerk for Nolan Bros. grocery, drove swiftly onto Jackson street and collided with Miss Donley's carriage. The force of the collision threw Miss Donley over the dash board and she fell forcibly to the road, striking on her side. Her horse was frightened and started to run. Even in her fall, Miss Donley had retained her hold on the reins and she held on pluckily, being dragged some distance in the street.

Use Rhone River Power. Switzerland presents an object lesson in the practical applications of scientific principles. Geneva now derives all the electricity it requires for public and private lighting and the traction of its cars from the impetus of the Rhone as it rushes out of Lake Lemman, and there is still left an enormous amount of power unused. Electric railways and lighting everywhere are supplied by the innumerable waterfalls, while heat and power to an incalculable extent can be derived from the same source.

ADAMS SCHOOL CAN PAY THE BALANCE

Handsome Surplus from the Entertainment Given by the Pupils Last Evening.

Teachers and pupils of the Adams school are jubilant over the fact that they are in a financial position to pay the balance due on the piano which they purchased last spring and still have a neat sum in the treasury. When the school bought the piano without a dollar in sight it was considered an immense and courageous undertaking and there were those who were pessimistic about the school's ability to ever pay for it, yet within a year the large undertaking has been successfully carried out.

The final payment has been made possible by the entertainment given by the pupils of the Adams school at the High school building last evening. This entertainment was planned with the ambitious purpose of raising the balance of about $10 due on the piano but it was such a stupendous and gratifying success that not only this ambition was realized but the school will have about $30 left after all bills are paid. Just what will be done with this surplus has not yet determined but it will be used for the benefit of the school.

It was an immense audience which crowded into the high school gymnasium and enjoyed the really fine entertainment which was given by the little people under the direction of the efficient corps of teachers of the school.

The first part of the program was entirely musical and its excellence was a credit to the school which certainly is blessed with a number of talented pupils. The musical program included three piano solos, all of which were splendidly rendered. Mary McGinley played a march by Karl Meytz; Mae Morrissey, "Spring Reverie," by Richard Goedecker and Genevieve Schmitt "Hobbling Spring" by Rive-King.

There were three delightful numbers on stringed instruments, for which Miss Mabel Woodbury, the instructor of the young musicians, played the piano accompaniments. Marion Paul and Lillian Crowley played a mandolin duet, "Pauline Waltzes," by Henlein, very prettily; Maud Rose gave an excellent rendition of "Garden City Grand March" by Hamilton on the banjo and Gertrude Paul played a violin solo, "An Angel's Dream," by Lagye in a very creditable manner.

Two choruses of little tots from the primary department made a great hit with the audience and both were encored. The girls' chorus sang "Wish-Bone Song," and each child carried a huge wish-bone, making a very cute and catchy number. In response to the encore the little girls came back upon the stage, clad in white night-dresses and each one carrying a doll. They sang a pretty cradle song very sweetly. The girls in the chorus were Myrtle Aldrich, Maude Aldrich, Florence McCarthy, Lois Hurlbut, Lillie Hockett, Nellie Davis, Marie Murdoch, Wilma Schultz, Mabel Slawson, Olga Zerbel, Ethel Morar, Blanche Angell, Josephine McGinley, Ada Fletcher, Pearl Marsden, Gertrude Deneen and Louise Tuckwood.

The Boys' Chorus gave two of Mrs. Gaynor's cute action songs, "Jack-o'-Lantern Song" and "Brownie Dance." The first was quite picturesque, the boys holding lighted Jack-o'-lanterns in front of their faces. The brownie dance was also very enjoyable, the boys causing much merriment by their grotesque costumes and actions. Those who took part were Stephen Gardner, John Groat, Will Groat, Eddie Ward, Charlie Beck, Paul Kemmett, Ed Hockett, Edmund Phillips, Joe Thiele, Carl Ernst, Abraham Karey, Clifford Snyder, Roy McCarthy, and Leo Herrmann. The accompaniment for the little people were played by Miss Margaret Joyce who took charge of training the primary choruses, being assisted by Miss May Henderson.

The gem of the evening was the vocal solo by Alfred Olsen who sang "Daddy" by Lemon, beautifully. Miss Joyce playing his accompaniment. Master Olsen has a very sweet, musical voice which he is learning to use wisely under the direction of Prof. W. F. Gaskins. He was encored but only bowed his acknowledgment.

The second part of the program was devoted to Longfellow's beautiful story of "Evangeline" and consisted of a series of living pictures illustrating scenes in the story and explained by readings of portions of the poem. "Evangeline" is a part of the school work in the eighth grade and Miss May Clark had charge of the readings which were given by the pupils in her grade. The following are the series of pictures and those who gave the descriptive readings: "The Forest Primeval," Myrtle Osgood; "Matrons and Maidens of Grand Pere," Walter Caemmerer; "Shop of Basil, the Blacksmith," Mabel Leane; "The Marriage Contract," Julia Enright, Cora Holt; "The Betrothal Party," Walter Caemmerer; "Tidings of Ill," Harry Spencer, Nellie Decker; "Searching for Gabriel," Paul Porter; "The Shawnee Woman's Story," Mae Morrissey; "Gabriel Found," Belle Ehrlinger.

The readings were all exceptionally well given and the tableaux, which were arranged by the Misses Louise Shearer, Mary Hadden and Irene Bennett, were very pretty, especially the may-pole dance. Among those who took part in the pictures were:

200 Freight Boats Ice Bound.
Albany, N. Y., Nov. 30.—Two hundred freight-laden boats are icebound in the Erie and Champlain canals. The state has powerful steel icebreakers trying to clear a path for the beleaguered craft. As fast as the ice is broken the water freezes again. The ice is six inches thick at various points. This thickness of ice, the canal officials say, is almost certain to sink the ordinary boat through pressure. Two boats have already been sunk, one in the Erie canal and one in the Champlain.

The man up by the front door of the car was badly bowlegged, but no one had noticed it as he entered, and the fact would have entirely escaped observation had he not suddenly queried of the passenger on his left: "You noticed my legs, of course?"
"Not particularly," was the reply.
"I thought I saw you squinting. My legs are bowed."

Sick Made Well Weak Made Strong

Marvelous Elixir of Life Discovered by Famous Doctor-Scientist That Cures Every known Ailment.

Wonderful Cures Are Effected That Seem Like Miracles Performed—The Secret of Long Life of Olden Times Revived.

The Remedy Is Free To All Who Send Name and Address.

After years of patient study, and delving into the dusty records of the past, as well as following modern experiments in the realms of medical science, Dr. James W. Kidd, 352 First National Bank Building, Fort Wayne, Ind., makes the startling announcement that he has a remedy

It covered the elixir of life. That he is able with the aid of a mysterious compound, known only to himself, produced as a result of the years he has spent in searching for this precious life-giving tonic, to cure any and every disease that is known to the human body. The only doubt of the doctor's earnestness in making his claim and the remarkable cures that he is daily effecting seems to bear him out and strengthen his theory. His elixir of life is one of reason and based on sound experience in a medical practice of many years. It costs nothing to try his remarkable Elixir of Life, as he sends it free to the name who is a sufferer, in sufficient quantities to convince of its ability to cure, so there is absolutely no risk to run. Some of the cures effected are very remarkable, and but for the reliable witnesses would hardly be credited. The lame have thrown away crutches and walked about after two or three trials of the remedy. The sick, given up by their doctors, have been restored to their families and friends in perfect health. Rheumatism, neuralgia, stomach, heart, liver, kidney, blood and skin diseases and bladder troubles disappear as by magic. Headaches, backaches, nervousness, fevers, consumption, colds, asthma, catarrh, bronchitis and all affections of the throat, lungs, or any vital organs are easily overcome in a space of time that is simply marvelous. Partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, dropsy, gout, sciatica and piles are quickly and permanently removed. It purifies the entire system, blood and tissues, restores normal nerve power, circulation and a state of perfect health is produced at once. To the doctor all systems are alike and equally affected by his great "Elixir of Life" and for the remedy today. It is free to every sufferer. State what you want to be cured of and the sure remedy for it will be sent you free by return mail.

Boy May Lose His Thumb
Joseph Bull, the ten year old son of Henry Bull, who resides on Eastern avenue, suffered a peculiar accident. Thanksgiving night, a part of his right thumb being nearly severed from his hand by the stroke of a hatchet in the hands of a playmate. Young Bull and Bert O'Claire were playing together and Master Bull was holding a stick upright while his friend was chopping at it with a hatchet. One of the blows missed the stick and struck Master Bull's thumb forcibly, the keen blade cutting clear through the bone and almost severing quite a large section of the flesh and bone from the thumb. The injured boy was taken immediately to the office of Dr. W. H. Judd, who dressed the wound and sowed the cut section of the thumb back into place. There is a possibility that the boy may yet lose his thumb but Dr. Judd gave him the benefit of the doubt and amputation will follow only as a last resort. Master Bull will necessarily have a stiff jointed thumb as the result of the accident. He is a plucky little fellow and showed a great deal of courage both when the accident occurred and at the doctor's office.
